Picture-perfect cabernet. It tastes of chocolate, blackcurrant and cedar and, while there are evident tannins, this is a wine that is all about flavour. It finishes grainy, chocolatey and fresh, with quite a bit of lingering acidity – all within the boundaries of balance. Oh, it's good alright!

Some leathery/earthy nuances on the bouquet diminish on the powerful palate, with strong blackcurrant fruit and a jab of dark chocolate. Built to last.
