SCRUBBY RISE SHIRAZ CABERNET 2009

90 Points

A blend of Shiraz, Cabernet Sauvignon and Petit Verdot from McLaren Vale, this shows plenty of red fruits and plum on the nose and palate, with a touch of chocolate and fine tannins on the finish. Try it over the next few years with just about any grilled red meats or gourmet sausages.

A well-made, multi-varietal red blend from one of McLaren Vale's most consistent producers, Scrubby Rise has a pleasant mix of ripe berry fruits, spice and earthy regional notes, lightly touched by oak. In the mouth it's a mellow, easy-drinking style with gentle tannins.

88/100

I can't recall a better Scrubby Rise than this. Restrained but spicy plum aromas, quite deeply flavoured and fleshy on the palate, fruit-driven, soft and mild-mannered. It's generous and fruity, if not exactly complex. Drink now to four years.

Little Winner. The baby in a sense, of the 2009 Wirra Wirra reds, this Shiraz blend also gets a hug from some Cabernet Sauvignon and Petit Verdot. The mix is a good, all-round slurpable red with some backbone as well as plenty of good front-end fruit joy.

This has blueberry and violet flavours, some gentle spice, and some underlying dark fruit. A versatile wine and typical super value
