WINE ENTHUSIAST MAGAZINE (US)

Joe Czerwinski, 12 Dec 2010

91/100

Voluminous yet silky, this undeniably complex offering from Te Kairanga features hints of smoky bacon, black tea and briary herbs surrounding a core of black cherries and plums. The fine texture stands out on the long, slightly warm finish.

The Te Kairanga 'John Martin' Pinot Noir 2001 is now savoury, secondary and truffle-like on the nose, with a rich, oak spiciness on palate.

4.5 stars

The 2007 vintage has good weight, sweet fruit delights and strong cherry, plum and spicy oak (35% new), it's a powerfu wine, built for cellaring, but showing some maturity.
