Intense and very pure-tasting, offering grapey aromas and flavors that show raspberry and boysenberry overtones, with vanilla and chocolate character.

Well structured, with plenty of grip.

Right from the moment it is poured, this tastes of Douro schist and wild purple fruit.

It feels cool, even as it blasts all that mineral spice into flavors of currant, cranberry and apricot. There's also something gamey, as well as green hints of nettles and esteva adding complexity.
